

SCENE 3

Snirts: Dante, Jenna
Flakes: Madison, Hailey, Andraya,
Purnima, Maka, Nasteho

Dante Hey, flakes. Wassup! I bet you're glad we're here.

Jenna We thought we'd come around and spread some winter cheer.

Dante We look a little grubby when we're standing next to you.
But being grubby is our thing. It's what we Snirts do.

Hailey Hi, Snirts. We thought you'd show up. We've been expecting you.
It just wouldn't seem like winter, without a Snirt or two.

Jenna Thanks, pal. We do our best to make a winter mess.
Sorry if we came too soon, or at the wrong address.

Madison No! No! You're right on time, just when things look nice.
You always show up with the mud and mix it with the ice.

Andraya We were hoping you could help us. We always count on you.
The Littlest Snowflake is over there and feeling very blue.

Jenna What's the problem with that flake? She's cute as she can be.
Is the problem that she's on the ground, instead of in a tree?

Dante Does she wish that she had landed on a mountain or a snowy hill?

Jenna Or maybe she'd be happier somewhere in Brazil!

Nasteho No! No! That's not it. She's glad she's here with us.
She didn't even mind, when she got splattered by a bus!

Maka It didn't bother her when a kid slid on his bike.
It's just, she's feeling sad because we're all alike.

Purnima She's really very happy that all of you came.
She just thinks that each of us is just the same.

Hailey Well, I never really thought of that. Maybe she is right.
Madison After all, we're frozen vapor and most of us are white.

Maka We all started in the clouds and found our way to Earth.
Purnima And we do sort of look alike, for all that looks are worth.

Dante Now I'm getting quite depressed. I'm feeling rather blue.
I look around and understand I'm just the same as you.

Andraya Millions and millions of snowflakes, when all is said and done.
Nasteho Millions and millions of snowflakes and I'm just one.
